Blanch was running fine until some looser drove into it and fled the scene. The hood is currently stuck open, the damage looks repairable, the tires are decent. It was running this weekend, thanks to Ian, but it needs a battery.

There were a few little things like sticky door latch, headlight knob needs pliers but all the lights work. It was well maintained as a utility truck. All I can say is that the cap and the roof rack bars are super handy which I think alone might be worth the hassle.

Take it away, but I just want to know that it isn't going to wind up abandoned in the hinterlands of the beautiful NWT.
